The applicant's representative called the examiner and pointed out that only 17 claims had been considered in the Office action with paper no. 031705. Furthermore the applicant's representative pointed out that it appeared to her that the office had examined the wrong claim set. Finally, the applicant's representative pointed out that the claims had been amended during Chapter I of the PCT prosecution and that the 18 claims in the amendment made during Chapter I of the PCT prosecution should be the claims of record. The examiner agreed to vacat the action with paper no. 031705 and issue a new Non-final action and restart the clock. The applicant's representative suggested that a Preliminary Amendment should be filed to clarify the record. The examiner agreed.
